THE THEME

In Lost Explorers, you're the head of an expedition whose mission is to find a Lost World... You start sending out members of your expedition team out of Venice; some investigate all around the world while others find means of transportation to be able to travel. Your two Expedition Leaders are trusted with the difficult task of analyzing these research's findings to find the entrance to the Lost World. The more clues your team finds, the closer to the secret entrance you get... But beware, you're not alone, the race may be frantic!

HOW TO PLAY?

Your research team consists of 3 Expedition Members and 2 Expedition Leaders. On your turn, you can send your Expedition Members to collect Vehicle/Mission tokens from stack A or B or both. 1 Expedition Member can only collect the first token in a stack, 2 can pick the second token, and so on.

The visible side of these tokens is a Vehicle: a train, a car, a boat, an airship. The hidden side is a combination of Locations, Mission to complete to collect clues leading to the secret entrance of the Lost World. To get to these Locations, you will need to use the Vehicle on the verso at least once. Choose to keep the token on its Vehicle side or flip it on its Mission side and place it in front of you. Important: once you've choose the you want to keep, you cannot change it anymore.

When you possess all the Vehicle tokens necessary to reach a Location of a Mission, you can send one of your remaining Expedition Members there by discarding one of the used Vehicle tokens. If an opponent is already present on the Location, you take their place and give them the discarded token. If your Expedition Members is on all the locations indicated by your Mission token, then you achieve it. As a result, move the Expedition Leader forward on the color track matching the Mission completed, by a number of slots equal to the number of Expedition Members needed to complete the Mission. Then you discard this Mission token.

To win, you have to be the first to find 4 clues and thus discover the GPS coordinates of the entrance to the Lost World...
